celled the usual batch of lies touching the character of the Republican party and its candidates. To an audience, four-fifths of whom were Democrats or those-bred Democrats, he delivered there some number of "Fugate's Run" veterans in the audience. Even the saloon-keepers turned out to swell their crowd. Just before the meeting broke up, the speaker said the emblem over the street, upon which were the names of Fisk and Brooks, and upon one side the stars and stripes, and on the other side the banner "No Union with Secession"; above the stars and stripes, and above the words "No Union with Secession," was a white figure of hands clasped over the "bloody chasm," as it were. The banner was a picture of the Union flag, with the stars and stripes by the ex-Union veterans, who decided that the emblem of treason must come down, and so rejected the Union flag. The speaker said they may have gone a step too far, hailed down the obnoxious emblem. The veterans here who fought to sustain the stars and stripes said that the emblem on the banner was emblazoned upon any party's banner in Union spirit. This incident has revealed the true spirit of the third party hypothesis, and shows that the speakers are not shown by the Democrats in swelling attendance upon the Prohibition meetings, has had the effect to open the eyes of those who saw the banner for the Prohibition ticket, and such are declaring their allegiance to the party that saved the Union and the Republic.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 8.—The Republicans at the nomination of Brooks for Vice-president, and now that the confederate flag is hoisted over the Union, who say that many have done more than they can stand. Added to this the high character and patriotic statesmanship of General Harrison and General Hovey, and the fact that the State platform is the Republican State platform on the liquor question has led to no excuse for any thinking man voting against the Union and the Republic. The speakers are doing to aid the solid South-free-trade-Sun Coy Democracy.

BLOOMINGTON, Sept. 8.—The Republicans of Bloomington held an immense demonstration to-night in the court-house park. The audience was addressed by Hon. Samuel Wallingford, editor of the paper, and the speaker was the elector-at-large on that ticket eight years ago. He stated that he was originally a Republican, and for reasons well known to his audience went off with the Greenback party. But, he said, is no year for third parties. The great and only question before the people was the protection of American labor. On that issue the Republican party was right, and the Democratic party wrong. There was to be no half-way union between them. The speaker urged the election of the Republican ticket and vote for General Harrison. He followed this with the Union and the Republic declaration. He discussed the Southern problem, being especially well-posted in the latter, as he spends his winters in South Carolina. Samuel Wallingford was the Greenback candidate in this district twice, and once was endorsed by the Republicans.

RUSHVILLE, Sept. 8.—Andersonville, in the northwestern corner of Franklin county, was thronged with people of the surrounding country to-day to listen to speeches by Mr. Carter, of Brookville, and Judge W. A. Cullen, of this city. A log cabin had been erected and dedicated to the cause of protection, by the citizens, and the speaker addressed the large gathering on the porch that projected therefrom. Much enthusiasm was manifest, and the best of attention was given to the addresses, which were delivered in both cities. There have yet been very tall poles here erected in the village of 500 people, from which Harrison and Brooks will speak. The speaker declared that the nation of the country is Democratic, no interest is manifested upon their part in the pending struggle.

Lot D. Guffin, of this city, addressed the Anderson Township Harrison and Monroe Club, at Milroy, to-night, and had the attention of a large number of students. He discussed the question of protection to American labor, in an able and convincing manner.

FRANKLIN, Sept. 8.—At night, Wm. Foulke and Colonel Bridgland addressed an audience of 2,000 people at this place last night. The remarks of Colonel Bridgland were largely confined to the tariff and the soldier, while Mr. Foulke spoke at length upon the civil service and State issues. Both speakers were well received. Grover Cleveland and General Harrison were not flattering to the former. The inconsistency of the latter was pointed out. Grover Cleveland were plainly and forcibly presented. Speeches of the campaign here have been better received.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

GREENFIELD, Sept. 8.—Last evening Hon. John L. Griffiths, of Indianapolis, addressed the Republicans of Greentfield. The crowd was large and enthusiastic, and Mr. Griffiths delivered one of his best speeches. It was logical, argumentative, humorous and convincing. At length he came to the tariff and the liquor question. Henry Clay Gooding, of Evansville, who is here on a visit, was called out and delivered a most interesting speech, attacking the tariff and the North running this government, and his speech was along that line. It was heartily applauded and appreciated by his old friends and neighbors.

men sit in street-cars by the hour and crowded women to stand without any reason for them, but as soon as a white woman enters the car the white man gets up for her seat. The other day a bob-tailed car going to the Capitol became very crowded and the white man seemed to know it, while about a dozen were sitting. A colored woman entered, and, taking her basket on the floor, caught on to the seat and sat down. She sat till the end of her journey was reached. Then she got up and, looking at the tall, slender man, with thick eye-glasses, and a gray mustache, sitting at the side of the car, immediately felt that he saw the man standing he arose and, with the whim of his hat, said modestly and in tones:

"Excuse, take my seat, won't you?"

The colored woman stammered, looked astonished and then the gentleman, who was a man who had given up his seat caught hold of a strap and stood till the Capitol was reached. One in the crowd seemed to know and he evidently did not know any of the others. The act of the man, however, attracted considerable attention, because it was unusual, and caused the white man to make inquiry. Two or three days afterwards the passengers, a stranger, was sitting in the Senate chamber, looking at a man in the street car at the time of the incident and looking over the chamber he held up his finger and exclaimed: "There sits the man who gave his seat to a colored woman in a street car. I wonder who he is?"

The gentleman who was sitting within hearing of the incident, said: "That is the man. He is the President pro tempore of the U. S. and Vice-president de facto of the U. S. States."
